

⚡ ZAPP

A Barcelona brand that found a million people before it had a product.

The store opens 9 September.

WHAT THIS IS

Four months ago this was a university thesis about money.

Now it is a brand with 651 holders, a million organic views, and a store opening in six days.

Built from Barcelona by a team of six, and published every week, including the bad ones.

EVERYTHING THAT IS ALREADY REAL

Nothing here is a projection.

THE THING NO FORECAST CAN FAKE

Three strangers asked to buy before the store could sell.

“Do you ship to the United States? How long to California?”

Peter • 1 September • 07:26

“Do you ship to US?”

LIMIAD • 1 September • 04:23

“What is the shipping timeline to Paris?”

Daniel • 19 August

In four hours. Unprompted. The audience reached the checkout before the supplier did.

THE PRODUCT • OPENING 9 SEPTEMBER

Nine pieces we can actually ship.

173K

views on a single football video. Our best lane, still unused on purpose.

A normal brand at this stage spends most of its money finding customers. This one was found first, and the store opens on the ninth.

THE PRECEDENT

“Physical products were the only thing I knew how to do. Walmart did not care about the crypto numbers. What moved the needle was social media.”

Luca Netz, CEO, Pudgy Penguins • Investors bought the company. Token holders have no claim on the toys.

HONEST ABOUT THE STAGE

Still here.

A founder account was compromised. The contract was never touched.

Two early founders left. Six people are here now.

The chart is well below its high. We have never sold the price.

Revenue is zero until the ninth. We will publish the first real number.

All published at zapp369.energy. We would rather you hear it from us.

WHERE THIS GOES

The store is the first mile.

The mascot collection

An NFT series of the character, on Solana. Pudgy Penguins started here. Primary sales are revenue, not yield.

A marketplace

Merch first. Then other makers who share the frequency. A bazaar before a supermarket.

Events, music, and the corridors

⚡ ZAPP at the door of a Barcelona venue. Then remittance corridors where it costs 5% to send money home.

THE REASON

“My mother had cancer twice.”

Ten percent of every profit this project ever makes goes to fighting it. To a named organisation, every transfer published.

That was true in May. It is true today. It does not care what the chart does.

The more you give, the more you receive. A rule about contribution, never about holding.

⚡ ZAPP is a community brand and a meme coin. Nothing in this deck is financial, investment, legal or tax advice, and nothing is a promise that any token will rise in value. Any investment discussed would be in a company, on terms confirmed in writing by a lawyer, and never in the token itself.
